Ahead of this Sunday's MTV Video Music Awards, get to know one of next year's surefire contenders.

Dua Lipa released her visual for New Rules after the VMAs' eligibility cut-off last month, but that hasn't stopped the mesmerizing dance video from becoming one of the most talked-about clips of 2017. With 125 million views (and counting) on YouTube, New Rules' viral success has helped propel the horn-laced breakup anthem up the charts: hitting No. 1 in the U.K. and No. 81 on the Billboard Hot 100 stateside this week.

Lipa, a 22-year-old British pop newcomer, released her irresistible self-titled debut earlier this summer and will play a handful of U.S. shows next month. She shares a playlist of her current favorites with USA TODAY.

Follow along on Spotify:

Bad Liar*, Selena Gomez

I love the direction Selena has chosen to go with this (still-untitled upcoming) album. It's really cool, new and different.

Kiwi*, Harry Styles

I love this song lyrically.

Ryd*, Steve Lacy

I love this whole EP, (Steve Lacy's Demo). I think there's a cool Mac Demarco influence throughout and this song really stands out for me.

Blem*, Drake

This is one of my favorite songs from the album (More Life).

Location*, Khalid

I love Khalid's voice. It's really distinct. He's a very talented songwriter.

100M's*, Dave

I love the production on this and I wanted to add some cool new U.K. artists to this playlist.

There For You*, Martin Garrix and Troye Sivan

A really unexpected collaboration but I guess that's what Martin likes to do. I love the song and the artists.

Did You See*, J HUS

There For You, Martin Garrix and Troye Sivan

A really unexpected collaboration but I guess that's what Martin likes to do. I love the song and the artists.

Did You See, J HUS

This has been my song of the summer. I love his album (Common Sense) as well. He's definitely an artist to look out for.

The Less I Know The Better, Tame Impala

My favorite song off the current album (Currents) and the music video to this is one of my all time favorites.

DNA., Kendrick Lamar

A song I play just before I go on stage. Gets me really hyped up and excited.

Chanel, Frank Ocean

I love everything Frank does. This is a great song.

Forever Young, Lii Yachty and Diplo

He's got such a distinct voice and sound. I love what he has been doing.
